Casual Slaughters

By VIRGINIA HANSON

YESTERDAY the interview with Jeff is under way. Jeff decides to tell the story of the time he was in the car with Sandra and the time he was in the car with Sandra and the time he was in the car with Sandra.

CHAPTER 33
Conviction of Guilt

THAT'S important he said gravely when I had finished. You see what I mean don't you? That Ivan was probably killed before the rest of you left the beach during the time when everyone was scattered. As I understand it the men all went off alone—first Adam then Gerald or the chaplain and finally Jeff. You three girls were together which gives you an alibi—not that anyone would seriously consider that one of you would have killed Ivan.

"Sandra could have killed him before she left the beach," I pointed out. But it was a purely academic observation. Sandra herself had been murdered. Of course there is the possibility which someone has suggested he went on that Ivan deliberately remained at the beach to keep an appointment.

"I was coming to that," I said miserably. I had committed myself to telling him the whole truth but I knew that what was coming was pure dynamite. There was that car—
"Can you place the time you heard the car?" he asked unconsciously granting me a reprieve. It was soon after eleven. I heard taps as we were driving back out there for our swim. He asked me to describe again just what we had heard and seen. I told him of the arrival of the car the sound of a single door slamming the dim sight of someone moving on the barge the brief wait then the car door again and the repeated whine of the starter. And while we were dressing Julia told me—Colonel Pennant I hope you won't think I'm just trying to make trouble. But I said I was going to tell you everything. And Julia can deny it now all she likes. I'm positive she told me it was Mimi's car that they had been having trouble starting it.

His eyebrows lifted but he did not snub me as I had been afraid he would do. Instead he got to his feet and went over to the door where he pressed in old-fashioned bell push that I could hear ring in the kitchen regions. "Well ask Mimi if she knows anything about it," he said easily. Cora came to the door presently and he asked her to see if Mrs. Pennant was in her room and if she was to ask her to come down.

Now about Sandra being killed in your room—'he began.
I told him then reserving nothing of Sandra's admission to me that she was afraid of Jeff of the brute she had shown me and of the fact that she had shared my room since their marriage.

By the time I was through I was frightened by the weight of the case I had made out against Jeff. I had not thoroughly comprehended it myself until I put it into words. And when I went back and told of the encounter at Fieldstone Inn and Sandra's parent conviction that Jeff had been her with Ivan on the barge and her blunt reminder of the time Jeff had knocked Ivan down—I looked at Colonel Pennant then and saw with a sick sense of remorse what had been unconsciously suspicion on his part was now a conviction of Jeff's guilt.

Well maybe he was guilty. Julia might never believe it might never forgive me for what I had just done. But if he was innocent something would—something must come to light to prove it. And if he was guilty there was no use in withholding damning evidence.

Graven of Me
Mimi came in then looking rather drawn and tired in spite of the fact that she had obviously been asleep. She had on a fresh frock and her hair was neat, but her face was flushed like a baby's when it first wakes up and her eyelids looked heavy.

Colonel Pennant repeated to her what I had said about the car and she sat down rather abruptly.
It's only fair to tell you I put in hastily that Julia doesn't remember saying any such thing. It's possible that she merely said she'd been having trouble starting your car recently.

No doubt it was craven of me but I would have given a lot to back out of this particular situation.
Julia ought to know the sound of my car. Mimi said with mechanical courtesy. And I'm sure she must have said it if you think so. Kay But I certainly did not go back out to the beach that night or any other night. I could not have been afraid to go to his feet and went over to the door where he pressed in old-fashioned bell push that I could hear ring in the kitchen regions.

Well I followed you until we got back to the quadrangle. Then you drove out of the post remember that to that boy scout meeting or whatever it was you had that night Mrs. Bridgwell wanted to dropped at the club and when I saw her off there I took a taxi and went to bed. I didn't see her again until I saw her in the car with Sandra and the time he was in the car with Sandra.

never forgive me. But I got into this thing Sandra was with me so much during the last few days.
I needed to justify myself. Somehow I felt that I had put a noose around Jeff's neck. I wanted someone to reassure me. I was ready to go out the whole thing but before I could go on Mimi burst into sudden passionate speech.
"I'm glad she's dead! I don't want to know who killed her—I don't care. Her cheeks were scarlet her eyes blazing. 'You needn't look at me like that. Kay. I'm not insane. And I don't care what you think of me. It's true and I have to say it. I'm glad she's dead. You didn't know her the way I did. She was bad. Kay. Bad through and through!'"

I stared at her in horrified silence. Mimi the self-contained the soft spoken she had seemed fond of Sandra I thought wildly. Or had she? I began to remember little things.
How I wish I had never seen her! she cried distractedly. Kay—I don't know what there is about you but I feel I can trust you. And if I don't tell someone I think I'll go mad with it.

With a real effort I interrupted her there.
"No!" I told her. "You mustn't trust me. You don't know what I've just done to Julia—and Jeff." She looked at me strangely for a moment.
But you don't know what I have done to Julia and Jeff," she said more quietly. "It's all my fault the whole thing. I suppose you mean they're in love with one another. I've tried not to know it. I've told myself that Jeff really loved Sandra and that Julia was just a child that she would outgrow him. But I've always known in spite of myself."

She paused and her eyes desperate. I'm going to tell you anyway," she said at last. "I've lived with it so long and there's been no one I could talk to. I won't ask you to keep what I say confidential. I'll trust you. Only—only just let me talk to you."

She sounded terribly shaken. I nodded. It would have taken more resolution than I had to refuse to listen.

Thanks a Million!

Frankly, we haven't caught our breath yet! Your response to our invitation to see Ohio's finest independent drug store was far beyond our fondest expectations and for it we are duly grateful.

We anticipated crowds and we were not disappointed. We did realize that people of Marion were going to turn out in overwhelming numbers. If you were among those who felt that the prompt service that we strive for was our mission, we must be excused. We'll be right back in business.

We want to thank you for your operation of this new pharmacy. We are proud to have you as a partner in our business. We are confident that your efforts will be rewarded.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Is Deeply Touched by the Warmth of Queen Olga's Thanks and Appreciation.

QUEEN OLGA only gave an acquiescent nod to my father's last direction—patently she thought she already had given him ample assurance for her safety and that of her daughter, but when we had left my father's rooms behind us, she clutched my arm, almost as if she were seeking support. The next instant, however, her figure straightened again, and only her slightly roughened voice betrayed the tension of her nerves.

"Your father must fear some very special activity from the gang he is fighting," she said. "He does," I agreed, "but I do not think we need fear the triumph of the other side. There may be bloodshed—for there are desperate men on one side, equally determined law enforcers on the other. But I have seen my father in action many times—and I never have known his plans to fail, nor have I known any person and property confided to his care to be harmed. But—he sets up the most elaborate precautions—which he expects to be observed meticulously."

"I shall be his most obedient servant," she said with a smile, then as we neared the door, she suddenly drew me into a little alcove of the hall, out of sight not only of her door, but of anyone coming along the hall, and put her hands upon my shoulders. "You are the only one to whom I can speak, my dear Madge," she said, "but I want you to know the great happiness you have brought me tonight in the restoration of my jewels."

A Grateful Queen
"I have brought you?" I said in genuine amazement, but putting my arms tightly around her, for I felt intuitively that it was a woman, not a queen, who needed the warm, loving sympathy of a sister. "You mean my father, don't you?"

"Partly, of course," she said, "but mostly I mean you. I do not need to be told that you and Lillian played some vital part in the recovery of the jewels, and I do not wish you to betray any confidence by telling me what that part was. My intuition is satisfied on that score. But on another count reason backs intuition. I am certain that your father would never have told me about the return of the jewels had you not assured him that I would keep myself a sort of hostage for me. I am as sure of it as if I had heard your colloquy—and I am deeply grateful."

She stooped and kissed me warmly, and then, without asking or waiting for a reply from me, she turned toward her own door, drawing me with her.

When she knocked, Olga opened it, and I looked quickly at her to see if Lillian had yielded to the temptation to irritate the girl who had caused us all so much uneasiness.

But the next instant I was remorseful. Nobody can be more scathing when she wishes than can Lillian, but she would consider it beneath her to badger a girl whom she had been commissioned to keep inside her room.

Charm Won Oline
"Come in!" Oline said with a lithe note in her voice, and as I looked from her vividly animated face and sparkling eyes to Lillian's "poker map," as Dicky calls it, I realized that instead of heckling Oline, Lillian had been exercising all her charm upon her, and when Lillian exerts all her fascination upon any person, man or woman, her friendly charm is irresistible.

Oline drew a chair for me opposite the one in which her mother usually sits, but I shook my head. Hastily I explained to her and to Lillian the precautions my father wished us to take until the danger from Jack Leslie and his gang should be over. Then we four went to work, and when we had finished we were confident that no matter how strong the light inside the room, no glimmer of it could reach the outside of the house through the windows we had just shrouded.

Water rings on varnished furniture often can be removed by rubbing them with a cloth dipped in camphor. Work quickly and wipe dry with a clean soft cloth. Rub with furniture polish applied on a soft cloth.

Politics Through a Heat Haze

IT IS hard sometimes to tell the difference between the murmuring in the distance of a presidential campaign and the sound of the wind in the leaves of a tree. The sound is like the sound of a thing that blows into all other sounds on a summer day unless it is heard for closely.

Listening closely these days—and Colorado Springs is a long way off besides being contrary to the prevailing political wind—which blows from Washington—one hears about the following developments in preparation for the big week ahead.

Mr. Wilkie taking his cue from New Deal strategy of trying to organize a farm-labor voting front on an economic basis declares he will try to organize a Republican-Democratic front on a classless political principle basis.
There is talk of a Democratic Unity party to permit southern Democrats to express themselves without "hesitating" the family honor by voting Republican. Wilkie Democrats and 1932 Democrats, with fewer compunctions about alluding to party names are willing to line up with Mr. Wilkie without benefit of subterfuge.

The Republican drive will begin officially and in earnest at Elwood Ind. Aug. 17 when Mr.
Wilkie will come to be a newsmen to politics
and will become instead the leader of the opposition to the New Deal. The Republican indignity has seemed content so far to let President Roosevelt occupy the headlines in fact he has indicated that the way the Democratic convention turned out was the first lucky break of the campaign as he sees it. It took the last traces of the Sir Galahad shine off the New Deal with an acid bath of cynicism and corrosive sublimity.

All these things will begin to get earnest attention when the weather turns cooler or on Aug. 17 whichever comes first. Through a heat haze politics can't be defined sharply but the issues are there and will emerge when the atmosphere clears.

Three Long Blasts

NEW YORKISH hullabaloo over arrival of the S. S. America at her pier in North river stirs some latent suspicions in the hearts of inlanders.
To them it seems as though confederates waste a tremendous lot of the people's money building
big ships which never quite find a useful niche in the scene of things. They thought so when the Italians, Frenchmen and Englishmen were doing it and they think so now.

The America is the largest passenger liner ever built in the United States. With Great Britain, France and Italy possessors of the best advised luxury liners now at war the America is the only ship of its class operating out of New York harbor.

When the war is over perhaps there will be a boom business in ferrying Americans abroad to see the battlefields. On the return trip perhaps the cabins of passenger liners can be filled up with dissenters from the "new dispensation" in Europe. Hope springs eternal in the merchant marine breast even if it doesn't spring
quite far enough to reach a profit.

Flashback

IT SEEMS as though it were only yesterday that James A. Farley and John D. M. Hamilton
were on the same boat bound for Europe. Mr.
Farley had visited at Hyde Park before leaving asked what was said he smiled broadly. At a press conference Mr. Roosevelt said he was not ready to declare his third term intentions. The first Hatch bill was in some danger of passing.
John L. Lewis had called John A. Garner a whiskey drinking polter playing labor baiting evil old man and Garner presidential stock had gone up a point. Finland was completing preparations for the 1940 Olympic games. Irish Republican terrorists were raising hell. Japan hinted that if the United States would renew the trade treaty which had governed commercial relations between the two countries until Washington abruptly announced the deal was off it wouldn't insist on this government recognizing the new order in Asia. The New York Yankees were eight games ahead the Cincinnati Reds were 10 games ahead. Velma West was being brought back to Marquette reformatory congress was getting ready to quit Britain and France were angling for a defense alliance with Russia. Europe was bracing itself for the August-September danger period. Danzig began to suspect that tourists arriving in the city were Nazi agents and here and there a thoughtful person remembered that just 25 years before the World war was beginning to take shape as Germany invaded France and Austria declared war on Serbia.

Actually, of course it was a year ago—the shortest, most momentous year perhaps, in history.

News Behind the News

Lid Is Tightly Clamped on News from Defense Commission.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—National defense moguls have clamped down the lid sealed and locked. No word emanates from the defense commission except through the press publicity by means of which R. W. Horton is the cork. No newsmen may interview any employee of the defense commission without first getting Mr. Horton's sanction.
Mr. Horton demands to know what questions are to be asked before he will sanction. He decides what questions may or may not be asked.

Simultaneously the war department has decided to crawl into the same hole. Under the Washington Johnston regime the freest let-titude was allowed employees there to discuss defense and martial problems. It seems probable that the new secretary of war Stimson has sealed officers by direct official order. At any rate not a constructive word of comment or news is now being permitted to slip out.

That is why you have failed to hear in the press lately anything except canned official statements concerning the nation's number 1
problem.

Things are not as bad as the Hitlerized publicity system would indicate. At least the key employees under the cork are satisfied the job is being done effectively. The army and naval officers do not rate the economists very highly and vice versa but this has caused only minor friction so far.

Civilian officials of the defense commission are apparently getting along better with the officers although there are some personal complaints that the army men are too right and do not understand industry.

An outstanding commerce department economist, Ernest Tupper, now among the 38 attached to the commission tried to get in to see an army colonel to leave a message the other day. The colonel was out but his secretary

suggested that Major X raved high enough to receive them. The secretary called Major X and fumbled around in confusion to get Mr. Tupper to disclose his title.

What is your name please?"
she asked.

He spelled it.

Finally in desperation she asked point blank.

Major Tupper?

Tupper sadly shook his head
and confessed.

No Private Tupper.

The story has become one of the inner classics of the commission.

Worries

British propaganda to keep up her domestic morale may have misled the American public regarding her chances. Top men here are worried about it fearing the American public mind has not been fully prepared for the dark of conquest or peace that may come. Trustworthy indices suggest German plane production is more than double that of Britain today. The best authorities here to visualize the prospect of a ruthless concerted attack.

Many an official in the White House and war department has privately expressed apprehension
over the possible effect of British propaganda upon the defense program. That subject seems to vary Mr. Roosevelt and his defense circle more than anything else right now. They gravely fear the American public will lose interest and decline to tighten its belt if P. M. Jones and Nazi propaganda continue disseminating their apocalyptic and peace
sophistications to the United States.

Present

Not on the official list, but very much in inside evidence at the Havre conference was Milo Perkins, head of the surplus marketing division of the agriculture department. He consulted with the American delegation of the corked plan which was not presented to the conference in its final form. Perkins may head the corked ship. Why his presence in Want a Refugee Child?

British children arriving in New York bound to the Statue of Liberty symbolic gift to America of their homelands' former ally

If you have thought of offering a child to you, this is a fine chance to do so. The child will be a refugee child.

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Feature Service Writer

THOUSANDS of American women waiting to open their homes to British children have almost swamped the New York offices of the American committee organized for care of the young refugees.

An average of 500 persons a day—most of them women—have poured into the newly installed
headquarters of the United States Committee for the Care of European Children whose chairman is Marshall Field and whose honorary chairman is Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. Both are active in the committee's campaign for a $5,000,000 fund.

From committee headquarters
in New York a national network of local subsidiary committees is being established a spokesman said. The local committees are scheduled to work with local welfare agencies in handling problems attending the transfer of refugees. The children's bureau,
United States department of labor,
the American Red Cross, the Child Welfare League of America and state and local welfare services
are among those cooperating.

Lots of Red Tape

If you want to take a golden-haired little English girl or a freckle-faced English boy, you'd better be prepared to handle red tape. Here is the procedure outlined by the New York headquarters of the committee.

First step is to get in touch with the local committee nearest you or tell the New York headquarters, by letter or your desire to help a child. That help may be given in several ways. You may
(1) take the child into your home
and give him full support, (2) contribute to his support in some other home than your own or (3) offer him only the shelter of your home—his support to be underwritten by someone who prefers to give money.

After the question of your type of help is settled, you will have to sign an affidavit promising that the child will be cared for in accordance with the standards of the children's bureau of the United States department of labor and that his care at all times

will be subject to the supervision of the United States committee or its agent. You also will have to answer a few questions as to your average annual income, net
worth, etc.

Basic Entry Cost $63

If you are going to take complete care of the child, you will have to accompany all this with a payment of $63 (to cover head tax, visa charge and the $50 which federal regulations now require to be deposited in a trust fund for every child admitted under this plan.) You will also have to meet the cost of his reception at the port of entry and his transportation to your home (for the committee will assume responsibility for it upon payment of a flat sum of $75.)

Virtually the same procedure
and expense hold good if you take a specified child, such as the son of a sister or the daughter of a friend. In that case you may have to pay the child's steamship transportation too, which you are not now expected to do with an unspecified child who is one of the mass evacuees.

If you don't take complete care of the child several types of arrangements can be made. The committee estimates the cost of support of a child including his schooling and medical care at $400 a year.

Today and Tomorrow

Administration Charged with Failure To Clear
the Way for Defense Program.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Last Friday the Washington correspondent of The New York Sun, Mr. Phelps Adams, stated that that great armada of fighting planes which President Roosevelt promised congress and the American people more than two months ago is not even on order today. The money has been appropriated, the flying services
know what they want, the manufacturers are ready to expand but a confusion of rules has brought about such a snarl that no contracts are expected to be signed for some months.

Mr. Adams went on to say that of the vast quantities of reserved for the fiscal year 1941, the war department has contracted to spend exactly $800,378 on a handful of two engine advanced training planes, but that no new contracts have been signed for bombers, pursuit or combat planes of any kind. No one has, I think,
yet questioned the accuracy of Mr.
Adams' statement. In fact, he could have gone further. For what he reported about aviation contracts is no less true in the absolutely vital matter of expanding the production of armor plate for the navy and for tanks. There too the contracts are ready. But they are not signed and operations which at best will require years to produce results have not yet begun. They have not been begun because the administration and congress have not cleared the way for them.

More Obstacles Ahead

It is important to the country
that the situation should be understood. For even if this particular obstacle can be removed by a sufficiently loud protest from the country the state of mind
which has produced it will raise up new obstacles. The fact of the matter is that the politicians and the bureaucrats in Washington,
while professing to put "total defense" above all other considerations, have not yet seriously begun to put the national defense

above all other considerations.

At the moment the great contracts to expand the facilities for producing armaments are stalled
over the question of tax amortization. But I am credibly informed that while the advisory commission has been struggling with the White House the treasury and congress to remove the tax obstacle the department of justice has been on the point of launching one of the greatest anti-trust suits of all time against the oil industry. It has been getting ready to proceed with a law suit which would take years to try and would occupy the attention of the leaders of the industry at the very moment when the executives of that industry are being called upon to use their brains and their energy in organizing to produce synthetic rubber and aviation gasoline and a number of other critical commodities. So whatever the administration's publicity agents may say about it the fact is that the national defense is not being organized with the full sincere and single-minded co-operation of the whole government.

This is a serious charge. But in the light of the known and indisputable facts about the tax amor-tization question which has stalled
the airplane and armor plate contracts the charge is I submit incontrovertible. And though the tax question is a technical one no expert knowledge of taxation is needed to see what is the trouble
in Washington today.

lem in order to make the new

An announcement was made that

Marionite Seeks Divorce from Man Missing 7 Years

Mrs. Garnet Marie Frush of 188 Blaine avenue who was sure for seven long years whether her husband was dead or alive today filed suit for divorce in common pleas court declaring he had recently located him in a government camp on the Pacific coast. She charges the husband Harry L. Frush, formerly operator of a North Main street cafe, with wilful absence and extreme cruelty. Her petition relates that after difficulties arising over her husband's opposition to her having children, the husband left in April of 1922 and has been gone ever since. Apparently he attempted to hide his whereabouts since only recently was he located, the petition states after Mrs. Frush filed suit in Licking county probate court to have him declared legally dead. While the suit was pending Mr. Frush was located and the suit halted. It had been filed in Licking county because the estate of Mr. Frush's father Oliver is in court there. In her petition today Mrs. Frush asks that an order be issued to prevent any money from the estate being paid to her husband. She contends that her husband attempted to conceal his whereabouts to prevent her from collecting alimony from his share of his father's estate. She also says that unless a restraining order is issued his share of the estate will be converted into money and taken from the state to prevent her from obtaining alimony. Mr. Frush is now living at Camp Kettie Kettle Falls, Wash. Mrs. Frush informed the court Mouser & Mouser are her attorneys. Mr. and Mrs. Frush were married March 4, 1931 at Monroe Mich. There are no children.

Windsors To Sail at Noon Today on American Ship

By The Associated Press

LISBON, Portugal, Aug. 1.—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor, traveling simply as Captain and Mrs. Wood, were aboard the American Export liner Exeter for a trip to the United States. The ship is due in New York Aug. 8.

En route to the Bahamas where the duke will take over his post as governor and commander in chief of the island, the duke and duchess will make the trip to the United States on the Exeter liner with Maj. Gray Phillips, the duke's secretary and his two aide-de-camps, Capt. George Wood and Capt. Vyvan Drury.

None of their household staff is expected to travel with the duke and duchess.

Strange Contrast

Per the duke who renounced his British title and empire for the woman he loved, the trip will be a strange contrast to his previous visits to the United States—in 1919 when he went there as official good will ambassador and was greeted with one of broadest and warmest welcomes in the history of the United States.

Also sailing on the Exeter will be the duke's wife, the duchess, and a number of other passengers. The duke is going home for a brief vacation. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., U. S. ambassador to Ireland, John C. Sweeney, ambassador to Belgium, and George Gordon, minister to the Netherlands, are among the other passengers who will be refugees of various nationalities.

Wells Stand Published

(In London the press published without comment the statement by U. S. Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles that it could be a violation of American neutrality law for British warships to come into the harbor.)

(It was assumed however that British warships in the Atlantic would keep a long distance from the United States coast without infringing on American neutrality and would be ready to prevent any enemy ship that might damage the prestige of British sea power.)

(London papers made front page news of the London press release, but the London press release was attributed to the Duke's friends in New York that she is to undergo plastic surgery in the United States.)

Freight locomotive was Elmer J. Kropf of Columbus. Firemen required three hours to remove the bodies.

The deadening trainmen who survived were Todd Wonn 24 of Akron brought here with leg and arm injuries.

Shouts Warning

He said Conductor H. B. Shaffer of the crash came running into the engine compartment crying "We're going to crash."

The conductor who suffered serious injuries leaped and fell from his engine.

My clothing caught fire. I fell in some bushes at the side of the track and put out the flames.

My pal Bruce Keel who is at the same place I do was with me in the car and I did not see any more of him.

Charles Taylor who lives two blocks from the scene said the wreck was the most terrible scene I have ever witnessed.

He told the following story:

I was ready to sit down to dinner a little after 8 when I heard what I thought was an explosion followed by a rumbling noise. A few minutes later I heard ambulance sirens and I raced to the scene.

The first thing I saw was fire men playing water on a Pennsylvania coach which was billowing smoke and fire from the front. The coach was burning furiously with flames licking up and the top.

The fuel in the gasoline coach had exploded and caught fire when hit by the freight train.

The firemen played water on the wreck for three quarters of an hour before they could get to the fire.

I could see inside the coach. Seats and benches were scattered around. Bodies were wedged in the windows and we could see them hanging outside.

It was the most terrible scene I ever witnessed.

BAN ON PLANE GAS EXPORT IRKS JAPS

Tokyo Says Order Will Evoke Serious Repercussions.

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, Aug. 1.—President Roosevelt's ban on the export of aviation gasoline to points outside the western hemisphere was interpreted by the Japanese government today as a move against Japan, Germany and Italy which might lead to "repercussions."

The spokesman also inferentially warned that powers against interference in the current round-up of persons—apparently mostly British—suspected of espionage. He said this was entirely an internal affair and in this connection he warned newspaper correspondents against illegitimate activities.

The American aviation gasoline embargo, he said, was an attempt to kill two birds with one stone—namely to force Berlin and Japan.

Under whatever pretext the order on aviation gasoline was issued, he said, it undoubtedly is designed to exert economic pressure on Japan.

If America continues on the same lines it is bound to cause repercussions.

(President Roosevelt signed the order to ban aviation gasoline in the interest of national defense. A White House announcement said Japan had announced a good custom for American aviation gasoline. The order had practically none since a moral embargo was imposed by the U. S. last year for the bombing of Chinese civilians. During the last six months of 1939 Germany and Italy likewise bought no American aviation gasoline, practically all of the export going to Britain and France.)

The admiralty spokesman declined to discuss the roundup of espionage suspects on the ground it was still under way.

The measures being taken are normal and in accordance with the law of the land. It would be entirely a mistake for Britain to take retaliatory measures. Also, it would be a mistake for Germany and France to take retaliatory measures. The measures being taken are normal and in accordance with the law of the land. WAR BRIEFS

BRITISH PLANES LOST

ROME Aug. 1.—(AP via Radio)

The Rome radio quoting a report from Tangiers, said today that 13 British airplanes were destroyed in Italian air attacks on the fortress of Ghazal Tuesday and Wednesday.

ESTIMATE PLANE OUTPUT

LONDON, Aug. 1.—The British magazine Aeroplane estimated today Germany's aircraft production at 1,800 machines a month and added: "there remains not the slightest doubt that the potential output of Great Britain and America is much in excess of that."

On that approximate basis—1,800 monthly—we do know that the rate of the British aircraft industry has been expanded to a figure in excess of estimated German production, the magazine said.

On top of that we have a steadily increasing flow of airplanes from Canada and the United States.

DAMAGED CRUISER IN BRAZILIAN PORT

British Ship in for Repairs After Battle.

By The Associated Press

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 1.—The heavily gunned British merchant cruiser Alcantara damaged in a running sea fight with a German raider in the south Atlantic steamed slowly into the harbor here at mid-morning. It was reported that the 2,200-ton Alcantara would dock at shipyard on the island of Vancor for repairs.

The Alcantara was heavily damaged. From the ship only one of her two normal funnels was visible. She moved on toward the Vianna island shipyards.

Twenty-four hours is the normal period which a ship of belligerent nation is permitted to remain in a neutral port. Extensions may be granted under certain circumstances such as repairs are necessary to make seaworthy.

British warcraft presumably were continuing pursuit of the raider as indicated in an admiralty statement in London yesterday.

An embassy statement said a sea battle occurred near the Brazilian island of Trinidad within the American neutral zone—and that both vessels were hit. The Alcantara suffered slight damages. The embassy said the raider mounted a bomb attack.

(New York shipping circles said the circumstances suggested the raider was the U-56.)

A U-56 was reported to have been sighted in the Atlantic. The Alcantara was reported to have been sighted in the Atlantic. The Alcantara was reported to have been sighted in the Atlantic.

BRITISH SHIP CALLS FOR HELP AT SEA

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The British steamer Thesusus was reported by Marconi radio today to have sent out a distress signal, saying she was being attacked by a submarine off the southwest coast of Ireland. No other details were immediately available.

The Thesusus is a 6,527-ton passenger liner owned by the Ocean Steamship Company Ltd. of Liverpool.

The ship listed her position as latitude 51° 48' north, longitude 21° 21' west, which would put her 500 miles west of Foyles headland.

The Thesusus traded between Singapore and England before the war and was last reported at Marseille, France.

Her position indicated that she might be in a convoy bound for Canada possibly with refugee children.

had raided Germany but declared their bombs had been dropped in Lüneburg far from any military objective.

England Extends Blockade

Britain's own counter strategy of extending her blockade from the Arctic to north Africa brought word from Tokyo today through Domei Japanese news agency that the Japanese ambassador at London would protest declaring Japan's trade with Spain, Portugal and other neutrals would suffer.

And while western Europe waited for a possible outbreak of blitzkrieg methods against Britain—Germany was skeptical of Ceylon's statement and apparent German agreement with the nation—there was excitement and gaiety in Rio.

The supreme soviet Russia's parliament convened to welcome formally the states of Latin America and Lithuania into the union. All three voted the union last month.

Germany's intention that invasion was not in the immediate future—said the battle of Britain already was on.

That battle went into its new phase last Monday when five bombers concentrated in a harbor-wrecking attack on Dover. German military observers declared they said the Stukas crashed the test of England's harbor and shipping facilities by port.

The British who have conceded some damage to southeastern ports broadened their own blockade effective at midnight last night from the Arctic to Africa.

Warships Chase Raider

In the south Atlantic east of Brazil British warships were believed to have taken up the chase of a German raider which fought to a draw with the British merchant cruiser Alcantara.

At least one direct hit killed two and wounded seven aboard the 2,000-ton Alcantara and so cut the merchant cruiser's speed that she had to give up the chase and limp to Rio de Janeiro 600 miles east of the Brazilian island of Trinidad where the fight took place. The raider with disappearing guns fled behind a smoke screen.

Elsewhere in the war at sea Britain announced the sinking of the 1,375-ton Delight, twenty-ninth British destroyer lost in the war after a bombing attack.

MacKenzie Finds American Youth Learns To Think

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

At a time when the conquering Nazis are poised on the shore of the English channel eager for the death thrust at Britain and our own country is rushing to strengthen its defenses, it is worth while pausing to consider why the world's greatest empire is unprepared for war and is now fighting for its life with its back to the wall.

Young John F. Kennedy, son of our highly distinguished ambassador to the court of St. James (New York) in which he expresses an engaging view of why England slept. For reasons which will appear later I want to emphasize that serious minded John Kennedy who is the eldest of Mr. Joe Kennedy's nine children is produced this important study at the age of 23.

Causes Assigned

Among the causes assigned for England's unpreparedness are bad leadership, a great lack of young progressive and able leaders, the opposition to the Conservative party which is in power was the Labor party and labor militancy did not wish to lose its identity by joining wholeheartedly with the government on an armaments program.

There was a strong League of Nations sentiment in England. Then there was the closeness to the government of the English aristocracy which was opposed strongly to war. Further there was the impossibility of matching Hitler's huge armaments expenditure without resorting to rigid controls to prevent inflation and that would have been the end of capitalism and democracy.

I had the privilege of studying this situation myself at first hand and finally was at Berchtesgaden, Germany and Munich to report the Hitler conferences between Hitler and British Premier Chamberlain and the British Prime Minister. With this background I find John Kennedy's book a thoughtful work which contains much common sense and keen analysis.

Youth Is Thinking

Still I am not so much concerned with his conclusions as with the fact that he is only 23. Next time I meet his father I am going to ask him whether—with all his great success and those nine million dollars he is supposed to have—he was thinking along such serious lines or could have produced such a book at the age of 23.

Maybe he was and maybe he could not. But to me John represents the development of a brand new youth in this country—thinking youth which is seeking truth and a place in the affairs of our land than were the young folk of the past generation when Dr. J. and I were fresh from school.

In traveling about the country I have been intensely interested in noting this historic development. Everywhere it has been the same—this eager surge of youth for a place in the civic sun. This has been true not only in schools but elsewhere.

In the sensational disappearance of the Horst B. Buderback's efforts were largely responsible for the reopening of the celebrated case by Gov. Bricker early this year.

Buderback relied almost entirely on his memory to keep track of the countless reports of the kidnapping. He took a few notes. A life-long resident of Wayne county, he had worked as brakeman on Pennsylvania freight trains between Orrville and Cleveland until recently.

E. D. Rinehart was sent from Washington while J. D. Bartlett and E. C. Hornung field inspectors already in the area, were ordered to the scene.

ACTRESS HONEYMOONING WITH HER NEW HUSBAND

By The Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 1.—Actress Lorelei Young and her tall, dark-haired husband Thomas H. Lewis were honeymooning at some southern California hideaway today and even members of their families insisted they were unaware of the couple's whereabouts.

Miss Young, 27, and the 38-year-old bridegroom, radio department manager for an advertising agency, were married in the presence of 30 relatives and close friends yesterday while out of St. Paul's Catholic church 3,000 persons crowded against police lines. It was the second marriage for Miss Young. Her union to Actor Producer Grant Withers, when she was only 16, was annulled. Lewis had not been married before.

POLICE HEADS REINSTATED

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 1.—Police Chief Carl Christy and Detective Chief Clyde Hupp returned to their posts today by order of the civil service commission following a hearing on Mayor Glenn Wright's accusation that they showed favoritism to numbers writers by allowing them to register under assumed names.

LEAGUE NAMES OHIO

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Ohio was one of 13 states named by the American Civil Liberties Union in which interference with Communist and Socialist labor parties was widespread. The union asked Atty. Gen. Robert Jackson to investigate.

12 COAL COMPANIES UNDER INDICTMENT

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 1.—A coal purchase fraud that bilked Cleveland and of $130,000 over a six year period put 12 coal company officials under bribery indictments today and a former city official under a charge of accepting bribes.

Coal company representatives were accused of unlawfully paying a total of $148,635 to John L. Abbott, retired city combustion engineer, charged with accepting his sum.

In a report to mounting a two-year investigation State Examiner Stephen A. Ryan asserted the city was fleeced of $130,000 between June 1931 and February 1937 through bribery and Abbott's false analysis of coal sold to the city. The report made findings of $4,585 against 11 coal concerns.

Abbott and Ryan provided all the testimony on which the Cuyahoga grand jury based indictments returned yesterday.

County Prosecutor Frank T. Sullivan said the indictments were only one phase of the coal situation and did not foreclose consideration of others and further matters therewith.

ROTHSCHILD PROPERTY IS SEIZED BY FRANCE

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Aug. 1.—(Via Radio) —The German radio announced today that Baron Maurice de Rothschild, a French senator, member of the international known banking family, was arrested by Frenchmen deprived of his citizenship and properties by the Pétain government for having fled France.

The action was taken under a decree published July 23 by a Vichy regime against all Frenchmen who left France without valid reasons between May 10 the day the Nazi western offensive began and June 30 the day after the signing of the armistice.

Exportation from France of his olive oil has been prohibited with all the solution has been prohibited by the government.

WALLS OF BURNED FACTORY BLASTED

By The Associated Press

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 1.—Firemen turned to dynamite today to blast down the scorched walls of a paint factory and speed the search for seven persons missing in the $2,000,000 blaze that destroyed a four-block area of mid town Camden.

Two were known dead from the flames which followed a series of explosions in the five-story R. M. Hollingshead company plant.

Twenty-one persons were in hospitals four in serious condition, leaving 124 families homeless.

Two expert dynamite experts brought a truckload of dynamite to the scene. With national guardsmen keeping spectators at a block's distance they prepared for the blast.

Streams of water played on the smoking ruins all night as asbestos-lined firemen poked among the twisted steel girders and piles of brick in a search for the victims. Gas masked against nauseating chemical fumes they worked two at a time for 15-minute periods in the blistering heat.

Meanwhile authorities outlined an inquiry that will review the possibility of sabotage. Officials of the company which had been working on a government paint order declared however they believed the explosions and fire were accidental.

DAILY WORKER IS SOLD BY U. S. COMMUNISTS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Three women of distinguished American ancestry today became the owners of The Daily Worker here after the official organ of the Communist party in the United States.

A statement said the women had formed the Freedom of the Press Company Inc. which had purchased the Daily Worker and the Sunday Worker adding: "We are the sole stockholders of that company and the only persons responsible for its formation."

The new owners were listed as Mrs. Ferdinand Reed, 83 grand-daughter of the founder of the famed Battleboro newspaper, Mrs. C. C. Reed, 81, native of Pekin, Ill., and a Vassar graduate and Mrs. Susan H. Woodruff, 71, native of Tenafly, N. J., and an alumna of Smith college.

BOEING PLANT WORKERS VOTE TO DELAY STRIKE

By The Associated Press

SEATTLE, Aug. 1.—Union employees of the Boeing Aircraft corporation's three Seattle plants acting on appeals that they do nothing to retard national defense production voted last night to delay for at least ten days a threatened strike.

The workers who are opposing a proposed reduction in wages in lower brackets authorized their negotiations committee to continue their efforts to reach a settlement with the company.

As an experiment a sleeping car company has built several coaches that can be converted into sleeping cars having ten compartments with berths arranged in three tiers.

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING M.D.

Infants Safeguarded

FOOD clothing bathing exercise and recreation—these are the pillars of health for the youngsters of second and third summers. These were the traditionally dangerous summers, but improvements in our knowledge of hygiene and in the preparation of food have changed that tradition. Common sense has also come to the rescue especially in the matter of clothing for summer. Indeed, I expect to see the time when it will be just as unusual during our American summers to see a man with a coat on as to see a woman with a dress on. And shirts cut low and open at the neck instead of four folds of linen plus necktie is as astonishing to remember that the sight of a little girl with just a sarong or a pair of shorts as clothing would have been considered shocking not so long ago. Going bare footed makes for strong feet later on. Screens, electric fans, refrigerator, air conditioning, shower, baths, swimming pools, public parks escape to the country.

the automobile—all these are hot weather aids our grandfathers knew nothing about. The second summer was considered dangerous because then weaning had been accomplished and the menace of contaminated milk and other food was ever present. But now no longer with proper milk inspection. And more often than before with this health improvement, weaning is over by the first summer, so artificial feeding is a problem then also.

Awards Made for Purchase of City Supplies

Contract for furnishing and applying street oil and surface treating materials was awarded Wednesday to C. E. Edgington & Sons of Findlay on a low bid of $41,335.50. Clyde C. Caldwell, safety-service director, announced. Three firms submitted bids and the Friday concern's was low by $197.46. Louis Dehmer of Tiffin bid $4,534 and Ohio Road Improvement Co. of Columbus bid $4,593.

The road materials include an estimated 32,000 gallons of road oil, 14,000 gallons of coal tar as a prime coat for stone streets and 28,000 gallons of seal coat material. The materials will be used in the summer oiling and resurfacing program and will affect about 15 miles of streets.

Other Awards Later
Awards for other supplies on which bids were also received have not yet been made but probably will be announced later this week. Director Caldwell reported. Eight local firms and the Ohio Road Improvement Co. submitted bids on coal and street materials, including cement, limestone and sewer pipe.

One bidder, Ralston Coal & Supply Co., submitted a written communication to the service director yesterday asking withdrawal of its entire bid. The request resulted because an error was made in quoting the price of coal in one-half ton lots. James H. Ralston, company official, pointed out in his letter to the director.

With the exception of three items in the list of street materials, bids submitted by various companies were identical. In cases where all firms submitted identical bids on a particular item purchases will be distributed equally among them, Director Caldwell said.

CANADA WELCOMED THEM
Elaborate Credentials Unnecessary

At least they have a nice collection of autographs, the party of four who worried so about getting into Canada, armed themselves with government papers and then were asked only the usual questions as to name and citizenship. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Y. Smith of 461 Elmwood drive and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Felt of Columbus, formerly of Marion, fretted considerably about their Canadian vacation plans when a rumor got around that entrance into the country had become difficult.

They wrote to Secretary of State Cordell Hull, U. S. Senator Vic Donahue and U. S. Attorney Robert Jackson, explaining their plans and received prompt replies, including letters "to all U. S. consuls and diplomatic officials, advising that the two couples were U. S. citizens and deserving of every consideration. Mr. Jackson referred his letter to the Cleveland office and his reply came through Frank Wiedemann, former Marion county prosecuting attorney who is now an assistant U. S. district attorney there.

The foursome returned this week from their stay at Thessalon, Ontario, Canada, to report that the cherished papers hadn't seen the light of day since the trip started. They crossed at the Sno and customs officials merely asked their names, places of residences and a verbal statement as to citizenship.

the low bidder on 5,000 tons of rip rap stone in ledge, offering it for 10 cents per ton, while France Stone Co. bid 15 cents and National Lime & Stone Co. bid 25 cents. The Hamilton concern bid 32 cents per ton on 8,000 tons of crushed rip rap stone and the France Stone Co. submitted a figure of 55 cents. Ohio Road Improvement Co. offered 200 tons of bituminous mix at $4.75 per ton and Millard Hunt Co. submitted a bid of $5.50 per ton.

Baldorf & Schlientz, Marion Builders Supply and Millard Hunt, all Marion concerns, submitted identical bids on the following items: 2,000 barrel Portland cement, $2.40 per barrel; 50 barrel hi-early strength cement, $3.80 per barrel; 11,000 feet four-inch drain tile, three cents per foot in truck load lots; 200 feet each of various sizes of sewer pipe, four-inch, 18 cents per foot; six-inch, 28 cents per foot; 10-inch, 42 cents per foot; 12-inch, 54 cents per foot; 800 tons coal, analysis A, lump size, $6 per ton; 800 tons coal, analysis B, lump size, $8.30 per ton in one-half ton lots and $6.20 per ton for one ton and over one ton lots.

National Lime & Stone Co., France Stone Co., J. M. Hamilton & Sons and Millard Hunt submitted identical bids on the following: 2,000 tons No. 34 limestone, 95 cents per ton; 2,000 tons No. 45 limestone, 95 cents per ton; 1,000 tons No. 7 limestone, 80 cents per ton and 500 tons No. 6 limestone, $1.10 per ton. National Lime & Stone Co. and Millard Hunt both submitted bids of 60 cents per ton for 2,000 tons of concrete sand.

CORN QUOTA UNLIKELY
DUE TO CROP DAMAGE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 — Agriculture department officials said today that a serious shortage of rainfall in the heart of the corn belt had virtually eliminated possibility of a grower referendum this fall on corn marketing quotas. Under provisions of the AAA act of 1938, a marketing quota must be proclaimed on corn, subject to approval by referendum of farmers, when the supply exceeds the normal supply by more than 10 per cent.

Officials said that while the marketing quota level for the 1940-41 season has not yet been determined, on the basis of last year's normal domestic consumption and exports, it will not be greatly different from July official estimate of the corn supply.

On the basis of July 1 conditions, the indicated corn supply was put at 3,070,000,000 bushels, including prospects for a 1940 crop of 2,416,000,000 bushels and a carryover of about 654,000,000 bushels. Last season's supply totaled 3,192,000,000 bushels.

The Gumps

I WONDER HOW MANY
HUNGRY HEARTS THERE
ARE IN THIS SEETHING THROAT—AN—HOW I WOULD LIKE TO SHARE MY HAPPINESS WITH THEM!

LOVE IS LIFE—WITHOUT
THE BLESSING OF LOVE, IT IS BUT A WEARY JOURNEY
CANDY—WHY CAN I NOT
BEHOLD TO PURCHASE
SOME TO LAY AT THE
FEET OF MY PRECIOUS
ONE

BUT, THOUGH MY HEART IS EMPTY
WOULD THAT I COULD PUT MY HAND IN MY POCKET AND—

$100!—HOW DID I GET
IN MY POCKET!!
